

Edmonton Region Community Board, Persons with Developmental Disabilities Core Operating Statements

Ideal: What we aim for

Adults with developmental disabilities contribute as citizens of their communities and experience a quality of life similar to others in their community.

Purpose: Why we exist

To supplement the support of families, friends, and community to adults with developmental disabilities by providing reasonable access to quality funded services that contribute to community inclusion and quality of life.

Responsibilities: What we do

With or on behalf of adults with developmental disabilities:

- Develop and monitor the implementation of a regional plan that supports our purpose
- Provide reasonable access to services
- Require quality and accountability of the services we fund or provide
- Coordinate and collaborate with other community boards and public or private bodies

Principles: How we make decisions and conduct ourselves

About the PDD Edmonton Principles ...

The principles are grounded in the public service values developed in 2006. Our principles apply to everyone we interact with: adults with developmental disabilities, families, guardians, service providers, one another and other stakeholders.

Customer Focus

We perform all our roles and functions with a conscious intention to contribute to a quality of life similar to others in their community for adults with developmental disabilities. This will be accomplished by listening to what adults with developmental disabilities tell us they want.

Respect

We foster an environment in which each person is heard and their important relationships are honoured.

Integrity

We behave ethically and are open, honest and fair.

Accountability

We are responsible for our actions and for contributing to the achievement of our organization's objectives.

Excellence

We use innovation and continuous improvement to strive for the highest quality in everything that we do.
